

IT Service Desk by OneAdvanced

The IT Service Desk serves as the primary point of contact for managing and resolving user queries and issues. It plays a crucial role in ensuring smooth operations by providing timely support and guidance to deliver a consistent end user experience with minimal disruptions. OneAdvanced's Service Desk is delivered by a highly skilled and experienced team of professionals who provide personalised and agile support to strengthen your organisation.

How can you achieve a high functioning service desk?

Companies can outsource their service desk to an external provider, which can take the form of a dedicated or a shared service. A dedicated service desk is exclusively used by one organisation, ensuring personalised service and in-depth knowledge about the specific business. On the other hand, a shared service desk serves multiple organisations simultaneously, providing a cost-effective solution with the ability to handle a high volume of requests. Both models aim to improve customer service, increase efficiency, reduce costs and most importantly, enhance the end user experience.

Why is outsourcing gaining popularity?

The industry-wide technical skills shortage has made it harder for organisations to staff their own support services, and the rise of remote or hybrid workforces post-pandemic has meant that maintaining an in-house, 24/7 team is more difficult than it used to be, especially if on-site help is required. These challenges, along with the difficulties of fluctuating economic conditions demanding flexible and agile services, have resulted in more organisations outsourcing their IT Service Desks to a provider who is better equipped to handle them.

Are you struggling to attract and retain staff?

An outsourced IT Service Desk might be the right choice for your organisation if you are facing any of the below challenges:

- Limited internal resources: If your organisation lacks the necessary internal resources, both in terms of manpower and technical expertise, to manage an IT service desk.

- Cost management: Outsourcing can be much more cost-effective than hiring, training, and equipping an in-house team.

- 24/7 support needs: If your organisation requires round-the-clock support but cannot afford or fulfil such extensive operations internally, an outsourced IT Service Desk can fill this gap.

- Rapid business expansion: For businesses experiencing rapid growth or expansion, an outsourced IT Service Desk can quickly scale up to meet the increasing demand for IT support.

- Focus on core business functions: If managing IT issues is diverting attention from your core business functions, outsourcing the service desk allows your team to focus on what they do best, while leaving IT support to the experts.
